Canned fish and shellfish since 1961

Since 1961, Rodriguez, Pascual y Cía, S.L., it has a wide presence in the global market from Spain to the European Union and spreading its products in the American market through its commercial brand, LA COCA.

As we are present in this wide variety of markets, we assume that it involves the elaboration of products attending to excellent quality standards. For this reason, only raw materials from the Rías Gallegas are selected to be used.

Our canned and preserved products include more than 70 different references, from tuna and white tuna to sardines, mackerel, sauries, clams, small scallops (without forgetting cephalopods) and our special preparations such as sea urchin eggs or tuna salad with vegetables. We have all these products in a wide variety of formats and preparations.

In addition, only raw materials of natural origin are used in our production processes and quality controls are carried out in our laboratories for raw materials before and after being processed and also in auxiliary products. Our canned fish and preserved products do not contain preservatives or dyes, as well as any other type of additive.
